

Data Protection Policy

We take your privacy very seriously. Please read this Data Protection Policy carefully as it contains important information on who we are and how and why we collect, store, use and share your personal data. It also explains your rights in relation to your personal data and how to contact us or supervisory authorities in the event you have a complaint.

The legal services firms that reside within the HCB Network of Companies, are all individually regulated by the Solicitors Regulation Authority (SRA) and are professionally bound to safeguard your privacy and information <https://www.sra.org.uk/solicitors/guidance/confidentiality-client-information/>, and in the wider context of data protection under the UK General Data Protection Regulation (UK GDPR) which lies within the framework of the Data Protection Act 2018 (DPA 2018) controlled by the Information Commissioner's Office (ICO) <https://ico.org.uk/for-organisations/guide-to-data-protection/introduction-to-data-protection>. We are also required to operate in accordance with the Money Laundering, Terrorist Financing and Transfer of Funds (Information on the Payer) Regulations 2017 (MLR 2017) with particular attention to regulations 39-41 where your data is concerned, details of which can be found here <https://www.legislation.gov.uk/ukxi/2017/692>. Usually within these regulations, we are seen as being responsible as a 'Controller' of that personal data. Occasionally we act as third-party holders of data on behalf of other parties acting as a 'Controller' and in these circumstances we can be seen as a 'Processor', and finally on some occasions we can be seen as both a 'Controller' and a 'Processor'. Our use of your personal data is subject to your instructions, the UK GDPR, DPA 2018, MLR 2017 and other relevant UK legislation, and our professional duty of confidentiality.

 - door entry systems and reception logs;
 - automated monitoring of our websites and other technical systems, such as our computer networks and connections, CCTV and access control systems, communications systems, email and instant messaging systems.

How and why we use your personal data

Under data protection law, we can only use your personal data if we have a proper reason for doing so e.g. -

- to comply with our legal and regulatory obligations;
- for the performance of our contract with you or to take steps at your request before entering into a contract;
- for our legitimate interests or those of a third party; or
- where you have given consent.

A legitimate interest is when we have a business or commercial reason to use your information, so long as this is not overridden by your own rights and interests.

The table below explains what we use (process) your personal data for and our reasons for doing so:

What we use your personal data for	Our reasons

The above table does not apply to special category personal data, which we will only process with your explicit consent.

Promotional communications

We may occasionally use your personal data to send you updates (by email, text message, telephone or post) about legal developments that might be of interest to you and/or information about our services, including exclusive offers, promotions or new services or products.

We have a legitimate interest in processing your personal data for promotional purposes (see above 'How and why we use your personal data'). This means we do not usually need your consent to send you promotional communications. However, where consent is needed, we will ask for this consent separately and clearly.

We will always treat your personal data with the utmost respect and never sell OR share it with other organisations outside the HCB Network of Companies for marketing purposes.

You have the right to opt out of receiving promotional communications at any time by:

- contacting us by emailing unsubscribe@hcbgroup.com
- using the 'unsubscribe' link in emails

We may ask you to confirm or update your marketing preferences if you instruct us to provide further services in the future, or if there are changes in the law, regulation, or the structure of our business.

Who we share your personal data with

We routinely share personal data with:

- professional advisers who we instruct on your behalf or refer you to e.g. barristers, medical professionals, accountants, tax advisors or other experts;
- other third parties where necessary to carry out your instructions e.g. your mortgage provider or HM Land Registry in the case of a property transaction or Companies House;
- our group companies;
- credit reference agencies;
- our insurers and brokers;
- external auditors e.g. in relation to CQS, SQM or Lexcel accreditation and the audit of our accounts;
- our banks;
- external service suppliers, representatives and agents that we use to make our business more efficient e.g. typing services, marketing agencies, document collation or analysis suppliers.

We only allow our service providers to handle your personal data if we are satisfied they take appropriate measures to protect your personal data. We also impose contractual obligations on service providers relating to ensure they can only use your personal data to provide services to us and to you.

We may disclose and exchange information with law enforcement agencies and regulatory bodies to comply with our legal and regulatory obligations.

We may also need to share some personal data with other parties, such as potential buyers of some or all of our business or during a re-structuring. Usually, information will be anonymised, but this may not always be possible. The recipient of the information will be bound by confidentiality obligations.

We will not share your personal data with any other third party.

Where your personal data is held

Information may be held at our offices and those of our group companies, third party agencies, service providers, representatives and agents as described above (see 'Who we share your personal data with').

Some of these third parties may be based outside the UK. For more information, including on how we safeguard your personal data when this occurs, see below: 'Transferring your personal data out of the UK'.

How long your personal data will be kept

We will keep your personal data after we have finished advising or acting for you. We will do so for one of these reasons:

- to respond to any questions, complaints or claims made by you or on your behalf;
- to show that we treated you fairly;
- to keep records required by law.

We will not retain your data for longer than necessary for the purposes set out in this policy. Different retention periods apply for different types of data. Further details on this are available on request.

When it is no longer necessary to retain your personal data, we will delete it.

Transferring your personal data out of the UK

To deliver services to you, it is sometimes necessary for us to share your personal data outside the UK e.g. -

- with your and our service providers located outside the UK;
- if you are based outside the UK;
- where there is an international dimension to the matter in which we are advising you.

These transfers are subject to special rules under UK and (where relevant still, post-Brexit) EEA data protection law. We will, however, ensure the transfer complies with data protection law and all personal data will be secure. Our standard practice where approved third parties are concerned is to opt to house data in the UK and to use standard data protection contract clauses which have been approved by the ICO.

If you would like further information, please contact us our Data Protection Officer (see ‘How to contact us’ below).

Your rights

You have the following rights, which you can exercise free of charge:

Access	The right to be provided with a copy of your personal data
Rectification	The right to require us to correct any mistakes in your personal data
To be forgotten/erasure	The right to require us to delete your personal data—in certain situations
Restriction of processing	The right to require us to restrict processing of your personal data—in certain circumstances e.g. if you contest the accuracy of the data
Data portability	The right to receive the personal data you provided to us, in a structured, commonly used and machine-readable format and/or transmit that data to a third party—in certain situations
To object	The right to object: —at any time to your personal data being processed for direct marketing (including profiling); —in certain other situations to our continued processing of your personal data e.g. processing carried out for the purpose of our legitimate interests.
Not to be subject to automated individual decision-making and profiling	The right not to be subject to a decision based solely on automated processing (including profiling) that produces legal effects concerning you or similarly significantly affects you

For further information on each of those rights, including the circumstances in which they apply, please contact us or see <https://ico.org.uk/for-organisations/guide-to-data-protection/guide-to-the-general-data-protection-regulation-gdpr/individual-rights/>

If you would like to exercise any of those rights, please:

- complete a data subject request form - an example of which can be found on the ICO website here <https://ico.org.uk/your-data-matters/your-right-to-get-copies-of-your-data/preparing-and-submitting-your-subject-access-request/> and post to our address below;
- email, call or write to us OR contact our Data Protection Officer—see below: ‘How to contact us’; and
- let us have enough information to identify you (e.g. your full name, address and client or matter reference number if one exists);
- let us have proof of your identity and address (a copy of your driving licence or passport and a recent utility or credit card bill); and
- let us know what right you want to exercise and the information to which your request relates.

Keeping your personal data secure

We have appropriate security measures to prevent personal data from being accidentally lost, or used or accessed unlawfully. We limit access to your personal data to those who have a genuine business need to access it. Those processing your information will do so only in an authorised manner and are subject to a duty of confidentiality.

We also have procedures in place to deal with any suspected data security breach. We will notify you and any applicable regulator of a suspected data security breach where we are legally required to do so.

If you want detailed information from Get Safe Online on how to protect your information and your computers and devices against fraud, identity theft, viruses and many other online problems, please visit www.getsafeonline.org. Get Safe Online is supported by HM Government and leading businesses.

How to complain

We hope that our Data Protection Officer can resolve any query or concern you may raise about our use of your information.

The UK GDPR also gives you right to lodge a complaint with a supervisory authority. The supervisory authority in the UK is the Information Commissioner who may be contacted at <https://ico.org.uk/make-a-complaint/> or telephone: 0303 123 1113.
